Welcome Bobby!

September 2026

A warm welcome, little Bobby!

In early September, there was a very special reason to celebrate at the Perlenkinderhaus: We're welcoming Bobby!

Last October, during our stay in Uganda, we were able to purchase two cows for the Perlenkinderhaus - Heidi and Nandi. The two were intended not only to contribute to self-sufficiency but also, in the long term, to help ensure the children's supply of milk and make a small contribution to the home's independence.

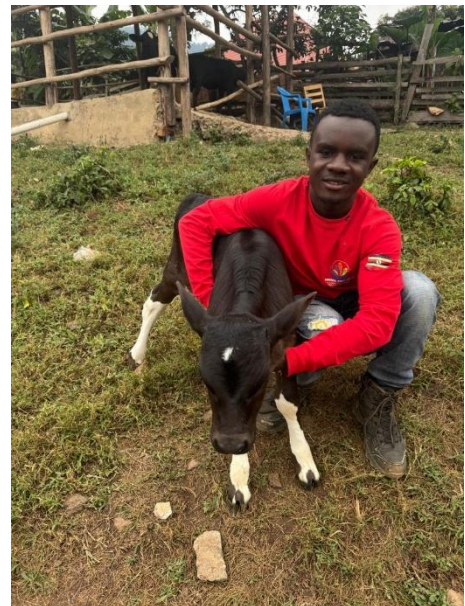

Heidi was already pregnant at that time. And now, about two weeks ago, the moment finally arrived: Heidi gave birth to a healthy little calf, whom we called Bobby.

Bobby is a small, curious bull calf and has already won everyone's hearts. The children, in particular, are thrilled about the new resident. They watch him as he nurses from his mom, as he cautiously explores his surroundings for the first time, and, of course, as he takes his little, sometimes slightly clumsy leaps and walks.

For us, Bobby is much more than "just" a calf. His birth is a small sign that new life and new hope are emerging from something we've built together. Heidi, Nandi, and Bobby are now an integral part of everyday life at the Perlenkinderhaus.
